Healthy Eating and Active Living

Department of Health

This grant is intended to provide funding for programs aimed at increasing opportunities for physical activity or healthier food choices for a significant proportion of the target population by implementing evidence-based policy and environmental interventions at the community level. Priority will be given to projects addressing low-income populations. Research should demonstrate that the intervention selected increases physical activity or increases the consumption of healthy foods. Interventions targeting work sites and schools (students or staff) are not eligible for funding under this grant program because the Healthy Heart Program provides other funds for school and work site projects. Exceptions are projects that propose to increase active commuting (walking or bicycling to work or school) or projects that propose to open school facilities for use by the public.

ELIGIBILITY: Local health departments; community health centers; not-for-profit hospitals; not-for-profit organizations that work locally or statewide; academic institutions; nutrition, physical activity, or obesity coalitions; and cooperative extension agencies.

FUNDING: A total of $950,000 annually to fund 12 applicants.

DEADLINE: October 3, 2008.
